Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 6/28/10 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The applicant argues:

1) Ueda et al. do not disclose a card controller for issuing a switching command to switch an area of an attached recording medium according to an operation from the switching part as claimed in independent claim 1. Also, Ueda et al. do not disclose a card control step of issuing a switching command to switch an area of an attached recording medium when said switching step is operated as claimed in independent claim 16.

Specifically, applicants respectfully submit that Ueda et al. do not disclose a recording medium access device which is separated from a recording medium (emphasis added). Because of this configuration, Ueda et al. do not disclose a card controller for issuing a switching command to the recording medium (see first 3 paragraphs of page 18 of applicants remarks).

2. As per argument 1, the Examiner disagrees. There is no claim language requiring the recording medium access device being separated from a recording medium. Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). The claim recites the recording medium is attached. Ueda (item M in figure 2) and Minami (see figure 2) both teach an attached, or connected, recording medium.
